

The Department of Spanish and Portuguese offers a track designed for Spanish heritage speakers who communicate in their home and community in Spanish or have lived in a Spanish-speaking country for an extended period of time and wish to develop their Spanish language skills (speaking, writing, listening, readings).

The courses in this track are designed to meet the particular needs of heritage learners. We validate the diverse linguistic and trans-cultural experiences, and knowledge students bring to the classroom. Our goal is to build upon that knowledge and experience in a positive and confidence-building environment.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

These courses will help you:

- Expand your bilingual skills in a wide range of contexts.
- Learn more about Spanish-speaking cultural heritages in the U.S.
- Develop a critical understanding of the issues surrounding bilingualism in the U.S.
